

Registered Charity No 313115

ANNUAL ECONOMICS LECTURE

WORLD WITHOUT WANT

How can our world sustain a growing human population, with its ever increasing demands on non-renewable, finite resources?

Ian Mason, Principal and Head of Law and Economics in the School of Economic Science, addresses this crucial question in this year's annual lecture. He will explore the possibilities of new economics based on natural law that protects and cares for the Earth while offering widely shared prosperity and economic stability to its human population.

All are most welcome. There will be an opportunity for questions.

The Hinde Street Methodist Church

19, Thayer Street, London, W1U 2QJ

Thurs. March 11th 2010 starting at 7.15 pm

Doors Open 6.45 Finish 9.30pm

Admission: £5 booked by phone – 020 7034 4000

£6 on the door

The price includes refreshments which will be available during the interval.